NEW QUESTION: 1

Is the following statement true or false?

When a printer is installed on a network, default printer permissions are assigned that allow all users to print and change the status of documents sent to it.

A. True

B. False

Answer: B

Explanation:

Initial answer = true => false the key is all users and change the status of documents. Change the status document refers to the "Manage Document" permission and it's not a default permission for "all users". By default, so far, a user can only modify status of the jobs that he initiated himself. but i tested to make sure. I installed 2 fake printers (one by the network, and one using LPT1) and here's the default permissions i have got: If we consider that Everyone can be used to designate "all users", the above screenshot is enough. but just to be sure, i'll add the "Domain Users" and "Authenticated Users" groups to the permissions to check which permission are assigned by default: exactly the same: only the permission to print documents:

Now we can be sure the answer is "FALSE".

NB: by default, only Administrators (and administrator) and "All Application Packages" have both permissions (print & manage documents) <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc773372%28v=ws.10%29.aspx> Assigning printer permissions When a printer is installed on a network, default printer permissions are assigned that allow all users to print, and allow select groups to manage the printer, the documents sent to it, or both.

Because the printer is available to all users on the network, you might want to limit access for some users by assigning specific printer permissions. For example, you could give all non administrative users in a department the Print permission and give all managers the Print and Manage Documents permissions. In this way, all users and managers can print documents, but managers can also change the print status of any document sent to the printer.

NEW QUESTION: 2

DRAG DROP

A company has a single-domain Active Directory Domain Services (AD DS) environment. Some servers and all domain controllers are deployed on the internal network. All servers in the perimeter network are joined to a workgroup. The company uses System Center 2012 R2 Operations Manager to monitor the server infrastructure on the internal network.

The company plans to use Audit Collection Services (ACS) for one Internet Information Services (IIS) server that is in the perimeter network.

You need to configure the authentication type and ACS role for Operations Manager and the IIS server.

How should you configure the servers? To answer, drag the appropriate authentication type and ACS role to the location or locations in the answer area. Each authentication type and ACS role may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.

Select and Place:

Answer:

Explanation:

Note:

* When the Audit Collection Service (ACS) Forwarder is located in a domain separate from the domain where the ACS Collector is located, and no two-way trust exists between the two domains, certificates must be used so that authentication can take place between the ACS Forwarder and the ACS Collector.
