NEW QUESTION: 2

You need to create, configure, and deploy all VMs for the drug pricing and dosage software. What should you do?

A. Provision each VM by using the Azure portal.

B. Deploy the solution by using Visual Studio Team Services Release Management.

C. Use the Azure Command-Line Interface (CLI) to run the azure provider register command for each VM resource.

D. Install and configure a VM agent. Use Azure PowerShell to set the value of the ProvisionVMAgent property to True.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Release Management is a service in Visual Studio Team Services (VSTS) and Team Foundation Server (TFS 2015.2 and later) and an essential element of DevOps that helps your team continuously deliver software to your customers at a faster pace and with lower risk. You can fully automate the testing and delivery of your software in multiple environments all the way to production, or set up semi-automated processes with approvals and on-demand deployments. Scenario: All VMS must be deployed using automated, repeatable processes that can be audited and validated. All VMs should be initially created, configured, and deployed as one logical unit within a single resource group.
