To get a full disaster recovery we need to select three options but just permit to select two. This is one of the questions that may be market for comments In this way we select system state and All storage groups and databases These include the following:

- * Active Directory (on domain controllers)
- * The system volume (on domain controllers)
- * The Internet Information Services (IIS) metabase (Exchange 2000 Server uses IIS to transport messages using the Simple Mail Transfer Protocol (SMTP).
- * The boot files
- * The COM+ class registration database
- * The registry
- * Certificate Server (if it's running on your system)
- * Exchange 2000 Server storage groups

They tell us

Technology Specialist:

The technology specialist who is responsible for the exchange server computers wants to meet these objectives:

- * The design should minimize total disk space requirements by maximizing single-instance storage.
- * Only the essential items that are needed to perform a complete mailbox server recovery should be backed up to tape on a nightly basis.
- * The design must protect against message storms and the misuse of distribution groups.

Case Study #5, A Datum Corporation

Introduction:

You are hired to provide services in design and deployment for A Datum Corporation. You need to evaluate the company's existing messaging infrastructure, access current and future business needs and design and deploy exchange 2000 server in the company's environment.

Background:*Company Profile:

A Datum Corporation is one of the largest manufacturers of automotive parts in the world. The company consistently places emphasis on producing quality products and keeping overhead costs as low as possible. The company sets its products exclusively through 125 distributors. Company headquarters is located in Los Angeles. The company has a total of 30,000 employees.

Office locations and number of employees are shown in the list:

Location Employees

Brisbane 2,100

Hong Kong 200

Jakarta 80

London 2,000

Los Angeles 20,000

Mexico City 720

Munich 2,200

Paris 2,500

Tokyo 125

Toronto 75

Business Plan:

The business of A Datum Corporation is to design, develop, and produce high-quality automotive parts. The company has a large engineering group that is producing parts for both the newest automobile models and the rarest automobiles.

Existing IT Environment:

Network Diagram:

The network diagram is shown in the exhibit. Click the exhibit button.

Chief Information Officer (CIO):

Our current IT environment is fairly up-to-date and is working reliably. However, we want to use exchange 2000 server to provide easier administration and greater efficiency of resources. We also want to investigate whether the services in exchange 2000 server can be used to increase our profitability and to provide enhanced services to our employees.

Our manufacturing environment operates in two shifts per day, seven days a week. We must provide a reliable computing environment for messaging, data sharing, and assembling line documentation and work orders. We want to find new ways to enhance productivity on the assembly line and also want to provide new communication channels from the assembly-line workers to managers and design engineers.

Director of IT:

Our environment consists of a Microsoft windows 2000 active directory network. All client computers on the network run windows 2000 professional. We have an exchange server 5.5 messaging system for the entire list:

- * Brisbane
- * Hong Kong
- * Jakarta
- * Tokyo

Deployment is planned in the offices in this order:

- * Los Angeles
- * Paris
- * Brisbane
- * Mexico city
- * Toronto
- * Hong Kong
- * Jakarta
- * London
- * Munich
- * Tokyo

After completing the upgrades, we want to change the native mode immediately.

We hire temporary employees during periods of peak demand. For temporary employees, I want to limit the mailbox to 25MB, and I want to keep the mailbox backups for one year.

I want to provide company executives with access to their e-mail from their home offices, but I do not want our technical support staff to provide equipment or install special software on these home computers.

I want to maximize the connectivity between our offices and ensure that our mail is replicated as efficiently as possible. Public folders are not used.

Our migration plan must allow for coexistence during the entire upgrade process.

Messaging System:

The current exchange server 5.5 environment has been divided into six exchange server 5.5 sites.

- * The Los Angeles site contains the Los Angeles and Mexico City Offices.
- * The Paris site contains the London, Munich, and Paris offices.
- * The Brisbane, Hong Kong, Jakarta, and Tokyo sites each contain only their own offices.

Users in the Tokyo office use an exchange 2000 server computer in the Los Angeles office to store their mailboxes.

There are permanent employees, company executives, engineers, and temporary employees in all offices.

Hardware:

These benchmarks were achieved when exchange 2000 server was tested on the physical hardware configurations:

- * Each exchange 2000 server computer can support 3,000 users
- * Each exchange 2000 server computer can generate approximately 45 global catalog queries per second.
- * The global catalog server configuration can support 140 queries per second Questions, Case Study #5, A Datum Corporation
