NEW QUESTION: 2

Which of the following is the BEST way to detect software license violations?

- A. Requiring that all PCs be diskless workstations.
- B. Installing metering software on the LAN so applications can be accessed through the metered software.
- C. Regularly scanning PCs in use to ensure that unauthorized copies of software have not been loaded on the PC.
- D. Implementing a corporate policy on copyright infringements and software use.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The best way to prevent and detect software license violations is to regularly scan used PCs, either from the LAN or directly, to ensure that unauthorized copies of software have not been loaded on the PC.

Other options are not detective.

A corporate policy is not necessarily enforced and followed by all employees.

Software can be installed from other means than floppies or CD-ROMs (from a LAN or even downloaded from the Internet) and software metering only concerns applications that are
