NEW QUESTION: 3

You are a network consultant. You are contracted by Cisco to subnet their network. You want to document the existing Cisco network.

Which two Cisco router services can assist in documenting the existing network? (Choose all that apply.)

- A. SNMP MIB compiler
- B. NetMon
- C. CDP
- D. MRTG
- E. NetFlow

Answer: C,E

Explanation:

A. CDP is a media- and protocol-independent protocol that runs on all Cisco-manufactured equipment including routers, bridges, access and communication servers, and switches. Using CDP, you can view information about all the Cisco devices directly attached to the switch. In addition, CDP detects native VLAN and port duplex mismatches. Network management applications can retrieve the device type and SNMP-agent address of neighboring Cisco devices using CDP. This allows applications to send SNMP queries to neighboring devices. CDP allows network management applications to discover Cisco devices that are neighbors of already known devices, in particular, neighbors running lower-layer, transparent protocols.

D. NetFlow services consist of high-performance IP switching features that capture a rich set of traffic statistics exported from routers and switches while they perform their switching functions. Incorrect Answers B: Multi -Router Traffic Grapher is used to monitor the level of activity on network links. MRTG generates reports in HTML pages that contain Portable Network Graphic (PNG) images that portray a visual look at the traffic on a link.

C,E: These are not related to network traffic analysis.
