NEW QUESTION: 1

You are developing a site-provisioning engine for a company. You create a site request page that employees use to specify the site template, title, and URL for a site. The site request page stores site requests in a list named Site Requests that is at the root of the site collection. You configure an approval workflow for the list.

Site creation must start at 3:00 AM each day. You must create sites in batches of no more than 10 sites.

You must not create sites until they are approved.

You need to create the site-provisioning engine.

Which two actions would you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

A. Create an ItemAdded event receiver for the Site Requests list. Initiate site provisioning if the value of the ModerationInformation property is set to the value `SPModerationStatusType.Approved`.

B. Create an ItemUpdated event receiver for the Site Requests list. Initiate site provisioning if the value of the ModerationInformation property is set to the value `SPModerationStatusType.Approved`.

C. Create an ItemUpdated event receiver for the Site Requests list. Create a new work item if the value of the ModerationInformation property is set to the value `SPModerationStatusType.Approved`.

D. Create a new timer job that derives from `SPWorkItemJobDefinition`. Schedule the timer job to run at 3:00 AM.
