Explanation

The AWS Documentation mentions the following:

HTTPS/SSL Listeners

You can create a load balancer with the following security features.

SSL Server Certificates

If you use HTTPS or SSL for your front-end connections, you must deploy an X.509 certificate (SSL server certificate) on your load balancer. The load balancer decrypts requests from clients before sending them to the back-end instances (known as SSL termination). For more information, see SSL/TLS Certificates for Classic Load Balancers.

If you don't want the load balancer to handle the SSL termination (known as SSL offloading), you can use TCP for both the front-end and back-end connections, and deploy certificates on the registered instances handling requests.

mazon.com/elasticloadbalancing/latest/classic/elb-listener-config.html | Create a Classic Load Balancer with an HTTPS Listener A load balancer takes requests from clients and distributes them across the EC2 instances that are registered with the load balancer.

You can create a load balancer that listens on both the HTTP (80) and HTTPS (443) ports. If you specify that the HTTPS listener sends requests to the instances on port 80, the load balancer terminates the requests and communication from the load balancer to the instances is not encrypted. If the HTTPS listener sends requests to the instances on port 443, communication from the load balancer to the instances is encrypted.

Option A

& B are incorrect because they are missing encryption in transit between ELB and EC2 instances.

Option D is incorrect because it is missing encryption at rest on the data associated with the EC2 instances.
