Network Virtualization

*VPC

*VLAN

*VRF Device Virtualization *ASA firewall context *IPS *VDC

Network virtualization encompasses logical isolated network segments that share the same physical infrastructure. Each segment operates independently and is logically separate from the other segments. Each network segment appears with its own privacy, security, independent set of policies, QoS levels, and independent routing paths.

Here are some examples of network virtualization technologies:

Device virtualization allows for a single physical device to act like multiple copies of itself.

Device virtualization enables many logical devices to run independently of each other on the same physical piece of hardware. The software creates virtual hardware that can function just like the physical network device. Another form of device virtualization entails using multiple physical devices to act as one logical unit.

Here are some examples of device virtualization technologies:
