Explanation

Executables should only have execute permissions for the grid user

The executable files for FAN callouts are stored in the Grid_home/racg/usrco subdirectory. If this subdirectory does not exist in your Grid home, then you must create this directory with the same permissions and ownership as the Grid_home/racg/tmp subdirectory.

All executables under $GRID_HOME/racg/usrco are executed immediately, in an asynchronous fashion, when a FAN event is received through the Oracle Notification Service (ONS). For most event types, the callout is executed on one node in the cluster (the node generating the event), thus a copy of the executable files used by FAN callouts should be available on every node that runs Oracle Clusterware.
